THE LOWNDESVILLE MURDER.

A negro named Osborne Rhodes, living upon the plantation of Dr. J. C. Spear near Lowndesville, in Abbeville County, on Saturday the 2nd inst., openly boasted in that village that he could martial men enough at any time to kill all the whites in that country. His conduct was violent and his manner threatening. On Monday morning following he went to the house of Dr. Spear and cursed, abused and villified him in the presence of his family, and threatened him and the white people generally with violence. When Dr. Spear heard of it he proceeded to Lowndesville and procured a peace warrant for Rhodes, issued by Trial Justice Beckham, under which he was arrested, and in default of giving security to keep the peace was committed to the Lowndesville calaboose by the Trial Justice to keep kim in custody until the next morning, at which time he was to be committed to the Abbeville jail some twenty-four miles distant. Rhodes' boasts were not empty, as will be seen from what followed.

At 8 or 9 o'clock on that night, the 4th inst., an armed band of forty or fifty negroes broke open the calaboose and liberated Rhodes without any formidable opposition, as no such thing had been expected, and the officers of the law were unprepared to retain their charge against such an attacking party. The negro mob then retired about a quarter of a mile in the direction of the Presbyterian church and occupied an open piece of woods. The citizens of Lowndesville thought they had dispersed, and gave themselves no further uneasiness about the matter. They were, however, mistaken. At 11 o'clock p. m. Messrs. Clayton Allen and Theadore G. Baker were returning upon horseback to Lowndesville from a prayer meeting held at the residence of a neighboring citizen, and upon reaching the open woods were fired into by the negro mob. Two vollies were fired, and Allen, who rode upon the side next to the woods, fell instantly dead, having been literally riddled by the balls from his assassins. Two balls pierced his head and seven or eight went into his body. Baker was shot in the neck and thrown by his horse, whereupon he ran towards the village and was pursued and shot at by the

As soon as the news was heard, a large posse of citizens gathered and went in quest of Rhodes and the leaders of the militia company to which he belonged, but were not successful in finding them that night. On the following day, warrants were issued by Trial Justice Beckham for a number of suspected parties, and about forty negroes, including Rhodes, were arrested. The whole matter was fully investigated, and all but sixteen of the negroes were released by the Trial Justice. Those held for trial were all implicated by their own confessions, or by the testimony of members of the mob, in having taken a part in the shooting, which was done with arms issued to them by the State Government. The captain of the malitia company fled, and has not been arrested. The first lieutenant and two others were arrested three miles above Anderson on last Friday, and carried by Deputy Sheriff Jas. H. McConnell, of this County, to Trial Justice Beckham on that night. On Friday morning thirteen prisoners, all retained by the Trial Justice except the three from Anderson who had not arrived at that time, were started to Abbeville jail, under commitments from the Trial Justice in the custody of citizens from Lowndesville, some of whom were relatives of the murdered man. They had not proceeded far, when they were informed that a road to Abbeville to rescue the prisoners. Thereupon they turned and brought them to Anderson, where they were received by Sheriff Wm. McGukin at about 8 o'clock p. m. One prisoner named Samuel Burton was dead, and his two brothers, John and Gilbert, were at the point of death. Doctors Sharpe, Symmes and McFall were immediately summoned, and perceiving that they were affected by Laudanum, gave them antidotes which restored them in a few hours.

Trial Justice Whitfield, acting Coroner, summoned a jury, composed of both colors, and of both political parties, and held an inquest over the dead man. Several members of the guard were sworn, and testified that Samuel Burton and his brothers appeared sick soon after leaving Lowndesville, but would not tell what was the matter with themselves. A wagon was procured, and they were put into it. Sam soon was too sick to travel, and was left at a to Anderson. The Burton prisoners testi-Lowndesville,, and at a bridge on the road, which was given them by a tall white man they did not know; that they drank it to day: kill themselves; that they knew their brother Sam died from laudanum which he got from John, and that the guard had protected them from danger. The citizens believe the laudanum was carried to the prisoners by their wives, who were allowed to visit them in the Lowndesville Calaboose before they were started off for jail. The jury, after investigating the matter, unanimously rendered the following verdict : "We, the jurors, upon our oaths do say that Sam Burton came to his death by the voluntary use of laudanum taken by himself. and taken from the hands of his brother, John Burton. Given under our hands and seals, this 9th day of December, 1876."

Three of the prisoners were wounded. One broke his arm by a fall in attempting to make his escape at the time he was captured, and the other two were shot-not dangerously-while attempting to escape from the officers of the law.

As soon as the citizens of the country around Lowndesville learned that a party of negroes had formed to release the prisoners, some of them formed a party, and determined to capture and lynch the murderers to prevent the danger of their liberation. Learning of the double danger of attack from both sides, the Sheriff and Jailor, Mr. Daniels, gathered a strong posse of citizens in the Jail to defend the prisoners against a rescue by either party. The party of whites, about forty strong, came into this town late | us at the appointed time by delegation. on Friday night to take the prisoners out, but were met by citizens, who assured them that the prisoners should not be liberated. and that they should be kept in the hands of the law for trial, whereupon they retired, after expressing themselves as satisfied. On Saturday the Sheriff communicated with Judge Cooke, and after consultation carried the prisoners to Walhalla jail, where they are now safely lodged, with a skilled physician in attendance upon the wounded. At last accounts great excitement prevailed at Lowndesville, but no excesses were anticipated. The whites will act upon the defensive, and will defer to the proper officers of

All the circumstances show that it was a deliberate plot on the part of a company of moment in the history of every people colored malitia, armed with State arms, to where the highest courage and most experpetrate a general and indiscriminate mas- alted devotion are best exemplified by sacre of the white people of that community, which was prevented by the fortunate escape of Baker. The people of Lowndesville have exercised a self-control throughout, which is indeed wonderful, and they deserve the highest commendation as a law-abiding

SUICIDE.

A colored woman by the name of Daily Thompson hung herself on last Friday morning. She was at times insane, and had threatened to take her own life several times. Trial Justice G. W. Hammond, act-ing Coroner, held an inquest, at which the has proved himself "a disgrace to his testimony established these facts, and the rank and a traitor to his trust." His jury found a verdict accordingly. She lived about seven miles below Anderson

A BOLD ROBBERY.

Some thieves on last Monday night pulled off the weatherboarding and ceiling of Mr. Gaines' store, in Townville, until they were which they entered, and helped themselves to about fifty dollars' worth of goods. They also got some money from the book-keeper's desk, and an imitation five dollar bill from the show case. They took the patent cash drawer out and carried it to Mr. Gantt's gin house, where they broke it open, hoping to find money. They tried to break open the iron safe, but failed. No clue as yet has been obtaining as to who were the robbers, but a sharp look-out will be kept for them. Our citizens should look out for any attempt to pass an imitation five dollar bill, and promptly inform Mr. Gaines. We hope these rascals will be caught and receive the full penalty of their crime at the hands of

BRIEF MENTION.

The streets of Anderson have been crow ded with wagons for the past day or two, loaded with cotton. Middling, 81 to 111.

The conduct of Messrs. McGukin, the Sheriff, and F. A. Daniels, the Jailor, on last Friday night in preparing to retain charge of the Lowndesville prisoners deserves the commendation of our citizens.

We are indebted to our friend, the Coroner, for a handsome Bramah cock, which he has presented us to crow around the premises over Tilden and Hampton's election. Mr. Herrick has been very successful in the poultry business, and has a very fine variety of fowls.

The President has pardoned Wm. S. Gentry, who was convicted of retailing spirituous liquors without license, in this County, and sent by the United States Court to the Albany Penitentiary for the term of two years. The pardon was granted upon the application of E. B. Murray, his attorney, on account of the age of the prisoner and the circumstances of his conviction.

We would call attention to the advertisement of Messrs. Arnstein & Rose, and the offer of premiums which they make. The public know from the liberality with which they advertise that they are live, progressive men, and wish to impress upon our readers that the men who advertise, most generally have most to advertise. These gentlemen large party of negroes were way-laying the have a fine stock of goods, and are in conhave a fine stock of goods, and are in constant communication with New York to supply the varying demands of trade.

> Mr. G. W. Fant is now receiving a large lot of elegant books, writing desks, Albums &c., suitable for Christmas presents for gentlemen, ladies or children, at the Post Office. He also has a lot of excellent pocket memorandum books, conveniently arranged, and containing much practical information. We have received a copy, and can say from examination that every business man ought to have one. While our people are preparing to make presents for the holidays, they would do well to examine Mr. Fants' stock at the Post Office. If he has not got what you want, he can order promptly for you.

RLOADAWAY CLUB.

We are requested to announce that the house with a part of the guard, where he Broadaway Democratic Club meets on next very soon died, and his body was brought | Saturday at 2 o'clock p. m., and every voter of the township is requested to attend. We fied that they got some laudanum at are also requested to publish the following preamble and resolution, which were adopted by this Club at its meeting on last Satur-

> WHEREAS, at a primary election in this County the merits and demerits of those persons who were desired by the Democratic party were passed upon by the clubs at pri-mary elections—the system adopted in this County for nominating candidates for office; and whereas all persons thus nominated be-came the candidate for the party and received the entire vote;
> And whereas, Wm. McGukin was run for > the office of County Treasurer with others, and received a majority vote of the Democracy of about six hundred. Therefore be it Resolved, That it is the unanimous requests of this Club, under said arrangement in our County affairs that Wm. McGukin, a disabled soldier, shall receive the appointment of Treasurer for the County of Anderson.

> Resolved, That any other appointment made in this County would defeat the wis-dom and desire of the Democracy thereof. They therefore respectfully ask that the Governor elect, Wade Hampton, appoint Wm. McGukin to said office, and this Club vouches for his ability, fidelity and capacity.

A REQUEST. We, the Baptist Church of Christ at Enon, have appointed a meeting to convene here on Friday before the fifth Lord's Day in this month, for the purpose of organizing a Union Meeting, which we trust will be for the glory of God. A Card to the Public.

The following paragraph appears in an address of D. H. Chamberlain delivered at the capitol to-day: "The gentleman who was my opponent for this office in the late election has recently declared, as I am credibly informed, that he holds not only the peace of this city and State but my life in his hand. I do not doubt the truth of his statement. Neither the public peace nor the life of any man who now opposes the consummation of this policy of fraud and violence is safe from the assaults of those who have enforced that policy." I pronounce this statement infamously false. By my unwearied exertions I have endeavored to preserve the peace of the State, and I have thus contributed to conscience may make him tremble, but neither I nor the men with whom I act countenance the hand of the assassin. WADE HAMPTON.
